Ike Throws Ball To Start The 1955 Baseball Season

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP) — President Dwight D. Eisenhower threw out the first ball of the 1955 baseball season today at the opening ceremony of the season at the Municipal Stadium in Washington.

Despite a bursitis condition, the President threw out the ball that not only launched the game between the Washington Senators and Baltimore Orioles in the stadium's capital but also the American and National League pennant races from New York to Kansas City.

A baseball-hungry crowd of 27,000 saw the Chief Executive start the Senators and Orioles on their way in Washington, where the weather prediction was fair and warm. Game time was 1:30 p. m. EST.

Exactly one hour later, the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Redlegs met at Cincinnati in the only other game scheduled today. With the weather forecast being cloudy and mild, a crowd of 33,000 is anticipated at Crosley Field.

Orioles Start Krelow

As soon as President Eisenhower throws out the ceremonial ball in Washington, the pitching duties will fall to two other right-handers, Bob Porterfield, who won 13 games and lost 15 for the Senators last season, and Lou Krelow, owner of a 6-11 record for the Orioles in 1954.

The game will mark a joint debut for Manager Chuck Dressen of Washington and Manager Paul Richards of Baltimore.

At Cincinnati, Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio will toss the first ball from the grandstand to Mayor Carl Rich on the pitching mound. Rich, in turn, will throw it to City Manager C. A. Harrell behind the plate.

Then, Art Fowler, who had a 12-10 record as a rookie last year, will move to the pitching mound. Cub veteran Bob Rush, possessor of a 13-15 mark last season, today's two "advance openers."

Two More Breakins Discovered

Two more breakins were reported this morning by Sheriff Brigham Futrell. Both of them were in Hazel J. D. "Papa" Dill's hardware store was entered and the postoffice at Hazel was entered.

Sheriff Futrell said that Dill's store was entered by forcing a west door. Two Boker knives valued at $2.50 each and 125 pennies were taken. Nothing else was apparently missing.

The postoffice was entered by breaking a window. The thief or thieves took approximately $12.00 in stamps and money.

County, city and state police were already working on three breakins, and the breaking in of the postoffice will bring in federal authorities on the case.

Hazel city police are also assisting in the case. Broken into last week were the Hazel Lumber Company, the Murray Lumber Company and Waters Grocery.

Statement Is Issued By Dr. Woods On Student Employment

The following communication from Dr. Ralph H. Woods, president of Murray State College, was released Saturday afternoon to the daily Ledger and Times.

"The Ledger and Times has become involved in no way with the strike now in progress against Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and does not intend to become so involved," said Dr. Woods.

"We have printed one communication each from the union and the company on the front pages of the paper, and feel we should also publish this communication from the college to clarify this discussion."

The communication from Dr. Woods follows:

April 9, 1955

"The press and radio have carried statements regarding students at Murray State College working at the telephone company."

May I say that I was not aware that any students were working for the telephone company until I received a telephone call Saturday night. Upon investigation I find that five students are working, but I also find that the hours they are working do not conflict in any way with their class schedule.

In view of the fact that the students are meeting their classes and working at jobs that would normally be classified as satisfactory employment for college students, their accepting employment is a personal matter and not a matter to be regulated by the college.

I was not consulted and had no knowledge of their employment by the telephone company. It was not suggested by the college that any student work for the telephone company. Accepting employment is purely a personal matter, so long as the employment does not interfere with the student's classes and the satisfactory performance of student's responsibilities.

Murray State College, as an institution, is not involved and does not contemplate becoming involved in the controversy to which you refer.

Very truly yours,
R. H. Woods
President

"I have been informed that one or more students at Murray State College who were employed by the 'Murray Telephone Exchange' prior to the strike are now participating in the strike. Since students on strike, as well as those recently employed by the telephone company, are making their responsibilities as students at the college, the college considers their working or not working purely a personal matter."

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

On Monday, March 28th, we were in your town, attending the funeral of my grandmother.

We had just left the funeral home, after having driven some 850 miles, cold and tired, and were walking down the street to a restaurant, stopping on the corner for the light to change when we got the shock of our lives.

A car load of college-age boys and girls drove by and squirted us full in the face with cold water. My step-mother, who is well in her 60's, also received the squirting, glasses and all. Someone explained they were celebrating with "mule day." I can well believe that because of the loud hoo-haws that followed the squirting, there were certainly a lot of them loose that day. However, I might be insulting the lovely "mule."

Had they been small girls and boys you might overlook the insult but grown boys and girls should have known better, but they didn't even have the decency to respect age.

Our newspaper here always welcomes any criticism or praise and prints it. I hope you do the same so that no other visitor will be treated as we were.

Sincerely,
Mrs. E. S. McKown

Hagerstown, Md.

Players Collide, Suffer Injury

PHILADELPHIA, April 11 (AP) — Outfielder Bob Bowman headed north from Florida to join the Philadelphia Phillies today as two medical conferences were scheduled to determine the extent of the injuries suffered by outfielders Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn in their collision last Friday.

Ennis was to face the medical staff for another examination of X-ray plates to determine the seriousness of the hairline fracture he suffered in the collision. The big slugger may be out for as long as four to six weeks, depending on findings.

Ashburn, bruised, aching and sore, was to report to trainer Frank Wiechec at Connie Mack Stadium for treatments and exercises to determine if he can play in Tuesday's opener.

Bowman, sent to Syracuse under 24-hour recall on April 1, was ordered here from the Chiefs' camp at Plant City, Fla. Bowman batted .282 and hit 20 home runs for Syracuse last year.

Dr. Salk Prepares Detailed Report On Successful Vaccine

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 11 (AP) — Dr. Jonas E. Salk has prepared a minutely-detailed and reasoned scientific report which shows that his anti-polio vaccine is an unqualified success, it was learned today.

Dr. Salk will read his report Tuesday at the same scientific meeting at which Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. will deliver his long-awaited report on last spring's mass testing of the vaccine in 1,800,000 children.

The Salk report is based on Salk's own testing of his vaccine on more than 8,000 children and adults in the Pittsburgh area. It "was prepared without knowledge of the contents of the Francis report."

But if two reports do not coincide practically detail-by-detail, the laws of mathematics and science are screwy—and as everyone knows, they're not.

Results Due Tuesday

In the minds of the involved scientists there hasn't been any doubt of the worth of the vaccine for over a year, when Salk's long and detailed series of experiments, first in monkeys, then in human beings, demonstrated that it could and did protect against all of the three polio virus types.

The big purpose of the mass testing with so many children was to prove the effectiveness of the vaccine on such a large scale and so dramatically that there couldn't be the slightest doubt about it and no one anywhere could fail to know that means of wiping out polio was eventually at hand and was both cheap and easy to use.

And so Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. the results of the mass testing will be disclosed in the white glare of lights illuminating Dr. Francis for the benefit of television cameras mounted on a platform especially erected in the University of Michigan's most ornate lecture hall.

Scientists 'Stars' Attend

The National Association for Infantile Paralysis, which has spent 10-million dollars for the vaccine and the mass testing, assembled an audience of some 500 scientists from all over the country to hear the triumphant culmination of its long fight to conquer the crippling disease. The program itself at which both Dr. Francis and Dr. Salk will read reports, was star-studded—scientifically speaking.

Meanwhile, Michigan was bouncily happy over its day of glory. A university man told this reporter, "Why, we've got more reporters here for this than we have for our biggest football games."

"Dr. Salk brought his entire family here from the University of Pittsburgh where he is professor of bacteriology and is soon to be promoted to professor of preventive medicine," his wife, Donna, and their three sons, Peter, 11, Darrell, 8, and Jonathan, 6.

Francis Report Secret

Peter and Darrell were both born in the old maternity hospital where the mass testing was evaluated when Dr. Salk was an obscure member of the university faculty from 1942 to 1946.

Incidentally, he came to Michigan on April 12, exactly 13 years ago Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Dr. Francis was putting the last touches to his report. It will go to an offset printer today for duplicating in large numbers, and it was understood private guards will be inside and outside the printers to see to it that no one gets a premature look.

Homemaker Leaders Attend Meeting

Project leaders of Homemakers Clubs attended a training meeting Friday, April 8 on "How to Select Blouses, Gloves and Hosiery." The lesson was taught by Miss Verna Latzke, clothing specialist in Extension Service, University of Kentucky.

This was the last of six lessons on consumer information in buying women's clothing being studied this year by the Homemakers Clubs. Begun in October, the project ends in April. During that period members learned pointers in how to buy suits, coats, dresses, shoes, purses, blouses, gloves, hosiery, foundation garments and fabrics.

The project was unusual in that the Calloway Homemakers Organization is the first in Kentucky to undertake an entire year's study in buying clothing. It completes five years of project work on clothing construction and selection, and tailoring studied by the clubs.

At noon the leaders adjourned to the home of Mrs. Ben Swain for a covered dish luncheon in honor of Miss Latzke, who has given instruction to leaders during all the clothing projects.

Present were Mesdames Newman Ernstberger, S. R. Curd, Glen Kelso, Lealand Alton, J. D. Revenue Folks Are People Says Nichols

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON

Never let it be said that the folks at Internal Revenue aren't people. Take the case of the woman in Kansas. It was the last day of the year 1954. She marched into the Wichita office and confronted Lynn R. Brodick. The lady said she needed help in filling out her return. The police Mr. Brodick told her she had until April 15 to file her return.

"But I am expecting a new exemption," she said. "And not only that I have a refund coming and need the money to help with the hospital bill." Quickly, the agent helped the expectant mother fill out her return. The exemption was born before 1955, and very shortly the woman got her refund for 1954.

The third way some agents have a little rough. One person in the Midwest had a notion that he had been overcharged. So he went to the revenue office, spied a collector and baited him a heavy one. Then the taxpayer marched to the court house and pleaded guilty. He waved a $10 bill under the judge's nose, enough, the man thought, to cover a fine for simple assault. When his honor heard the whole story he fined the man $250, and threw in a six month's jail sentence for good measure.

In Dallas, a tycoon was reminded in polite language that one of his hired hands was in arrears in her quarterly tax payments. Time was ed for awhile, then the Internal Revenue people got a note from the big shot.

"I married the lady," he said, "and gained an additional exemption, just in time."

In Washington, the big office on St. Patrick's Day got three envelopes from the same person, each containing a $100 bill. The letters were signed "a repentant sinner named Mike."

BACKSTAIRS AT THE WHITEHOUSE

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON

Backstairs at the White House: President Eisenhower made his first visit to Thomasville, Ga., to shoot quail on the estate of Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey in the early winter of 1954.

The Roseland Lincoln-Mercury company of Thomasville provided the Chief Executive with a fine stay. Shortly after Mr. Eisenhower departed from Thomasville the following ad appeared in the local paper:

"George Washington slept here. Sorry, we mean that Ike used this beautiful Lincoln automobile during his stay in Thomasville and now you can own this presidential beauty at a substantial discount. See or call Roseland Lincoln-Mercury for a deal on this 1954 Lincoln Capri."

This interesting item about the Eisenhower Lincoln comes to light somewhat late but it does point up a strange situation. In a lot of towns visited by the President, the borrowed cars actually retail for more than the normal list price after he departs.

Al Lansing, writing in the current Collier's Magazine about Mr.

Eisenhower's fishing, quotes one of the President's old Denver buddies, Aksel Nielsen, as saying "Ike likes fishing better than golf."

This will come as a distinct shock to Ed Dudley, the golf professional at the Augusta National Golf Club. Dudley thinks Mr. Eisenhower would much rather play the tough Augusta National Course than fish in the small bass pond which the club installed near the President's cabin.

At any rate, the President will put the Nielsen and Lansing theory to a severe test next week when he arrives at the club for his usual spring visit.

Suror bet: The President will play golf at Augusta before he tries fishing.

The Tamarisk Country Club at Palm Springs, Calif., is mailing to friends small mirrors which indicate how proud the Southern Californians were to have the Eisenhowers visit them last year.

On one side of the mirror is a picture of a palm tree with a small sign at the base proclaiming it as "Ike's Tree."

This was the tree where a bad presidential iron shot nestled at the base of the palm and he shot out of this bad lie with an eight-iron blow.

The other side of the mirror is blank except for a line at the bottom, "I Like Ike."

At any rate, the President will put the Nielsen and Lansing theory to a severe test next week when he arrives at the club for his usual spring visit.

Suror bet: The President will play golf at Augusta before he tries fishing.

The Tamarisk Country Club at Palm Springs, Calif., is mailing to friends small mirrors which indicate how proud the Southern Californians were to have the Eisenhowers visit them last year.

On one side of the mirror is a picture of a palm tree with a small sign at the base proclaiming it as "Ike's Tree."

This was the tree where a bad presidential iron shot nestled at the base of the palm and he shot out of this bad lie with an eight-iron blow.

The other side of the mirror is blank except for a line at the bottom, "I Like Ike."

At any rate, the President will put the Nielsen and Lansing theory to a severe test next week when he arrives at the club for his usual spring visit.

Buying a car?
MY BANK PLAN MAY SAVE YOU $100 ON FINANCING AND AUTO INSURANCE

Before you buy that car, just tell me on the phone the total costs of the car, the financing and the insurance. Within five minutes I'll call you back and tell you what it will cost you to buy, finance, and insure the same car through my Bank Plan. Chances are, for exactly the same deal, it'll be $100 less! I know it's hard to believe — but it's worth a phone call, isn't it? There is no obligation.

Loss Of Life
In Floods
Is Decreased

NEW YORK, N. Y. - The yearly loss of life in floods in the United States had declined markedly in recent decades, according to a study by statisticians of the 1,728 United States Weather Bureau for the 20 years from 1934 through 1953.

Of the total 1,153 deaths occurred in the first half of the period and 575 in the second half. Provisional data for 1954 indicate a total of less than 50 lives, about half of which were taken by the Texas flood last June.

For more than 15 years, the statisticians note, no single flood has killed as many as 100 persons.
In the period of 1935-1937 there were three floods in each of which more than 100 lives were lost. A Mississippi Valley flood in 1927 took 313 lives, and an Ohio River flood in 1913 claimed 407 victims.

The reduction in flood fatalities has resulted in large measure from the construction of reservoirs, levees, flood walls, and canals by Army engineers in cooperation with State and local agencies. Another important factor has been the increase in the extent and reliability of flood forecasting by the United States Weather Bureau.

Emergency measures against flood waters and the rapid evacuation of people from dangerous areas - efforts in which the American Red Cross often plays a major role - have also contributed materially to the reduction of the toll, it is noted.

The largest loss of life from floods has accounted for one quarter and one fifth, respectively, of the total of the 20 years under review. Three fifths of the flood deaths in the country as a whole occurred during the period of April through July, and nine of the 13 floods which took 25 lives or more were in this four-month period.

"Village Smithy" Is True Scot

If the village blacksmith in Olney, Maryland, resembles the Scotsman on the Savings Bond poster above, it's more than just a coincidence. They're one and the same. When Artist GIB Crockett selected the thrift theme for his Savings Bond poster, he chose as his model 70-year-old Samuel Josiah Finneybrook, a true Scotsman who piles his trade in the little Maryland town just 18 miles north of the White House. A blacksmith who hasn't shed a horse hair in 40 years, Mr. Finneybrook nevertheless keeps busy at his forge making chimney initials and other ornaments for homeowners.
He also makes and repairs machinery, and otherwise serves as handyman for the neighborhood. One of the few old-time "village smithies" left in the United States, he observes: "No, I don't have a spreading chestnut tree to work under. A blight killed them all around here 40 years ago." Mr. Finneybrook not only has contributed his Savings Bonds, but he also is a regular purchaser of what he calls his "good investment." The poster is now being widely displayed all over the country.

Carry-over Power of Fertilizer Aids All Rotation Crops

FERTILIZER "carry-over" power helps boost the yields of all crops in the rotation, when plant food is added to any one of them, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in summarizing a recent report by H. J. Mederski, Ohio State University agronomist.

Corn yields were increased 15 bushels per acre, oats eight bushels, wheat 10 bushels, and hay 760 pounds per acre in Ohio tests, said Mederski, when 500 pounds of a nitrogen-phosphate-potash fertilizer was broadcast for corn in the rotation.

When the same amount of fertilizer was added to a new legume-grass seeding after wheat, the yields of hay were increased 1,800 pounds per acre, corn 12 bushels per acre, oats seven bushels, and wheat six bushels.

Applying the fertilizer to wheat, boosted yields of wheat by 19 bushels, hay by 1,300 pounds per acre, corn seven bushels and oats six bushels per acre.

When corn is in the rotation, said Mederski, the soil's fertility level can be increased or maintained by adding the bulk of the fertilizer at a convenient place in the rotation, such as the meadow crop, and using smaller amounts of plant food in the row at corn planting time.

Futrell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bloodworth and children and Mrs. Orlan Hurt all enjoyed a fish dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Futrell.

Hope every one has a Happy Easter.

Starlet Has Big Thrill At Pantages

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — A 21-year-old unknown starlet from Texas realized the thrill of a lifetime last week. She found fame overnight because of her date.

Gathryn Grant, a pretty brunette, stepped into the forecourt of the Pantages Theater with the man who brought her, Bing Crosby, her frequent date and the world's most famous crooner.

"I'd never even been to a premiere before," smiled the actress, "but I was so excited."

The 51-year-old Crosby and the Texas girl who still goes to college have been dating for a year. But how often and where, or whether it's a serious romance, are unanswered questions.

"I won't talk about him," is all Kathryn will say.

Several months ago gossip column items reported Bing had given her a ring. She burst into tears when she read the stories.

"I was so embarrassed. My mother and father in Texas were barraged with calls," she said.

Bing's new girl is the daughter of a retired politician, Emery ress, "I don't think I've ever been so scared in my life. So many reporters and photographers."

The evening was bittersweet, however, she added. "Bing didn't care that he didn't win, but I did. I was furious I had to put on a good job of acting, clapping and smiling."

Two years later Kathryn arrived in Hollywood. Rush wangled her a screen test and contract at Paramount Studio. There she did only walk-on roles but she met Der Bingle on the set of "White Christmas."

Six months ago Kathryn left Paramount and was put under contract at Columbia Studio. Her biggest role has been as a delinquent in the story of convict Cary Chessman, "Cell 2455, Death Row."

But today she's en route to Alabama for her first starring role, in "Phenix City."

Kathryn lives in a furnished modern apartment in suburban North Hollywood with a girl friend from Austin, Tex., Marilyn Banks. Marilyn is studying to be a dress designer and works in the wardrobe department at Paramount. The brown-eyed actress is majoring in theater arts at UCLA and hopes to graduate this spring.

The actress won't discuss Bing.

HOW MANPOWER STACKS UP

SOLDIER FIGURES give a pictorial comparison of defense manpower as Congress considers cutting present size. The tiny figure at left represents fewer than 500,000 of 1919. Figure in middle represents the more than 12,000,000 at windup of World War II. Figure at right represents current manpower of nearly 3,000,000. This chart was made from Industrial Conference board figures

Grandstaff of West Columbia, Tex. but her roommate exclaims, "He's Kathryn started winning beauty contests at the age of 3, and repeated victories at 15, 16, 17 and 18. When she was 16, Art Rush, Roy Rogers' manager, noticed her in a contest and urged her to try movies."
